Services

Mortgage Solutions

We provide end-to-end back office mortgage solutions to financial institutions and lenders, enabling them to focus on their core competencies and improve operational efficiencies. Our team of experienced professionals will ensure that the collection, organization and evaluation of required documents is done before the loan is submitted for underwriting

Support and Maintenance

In choosing Virtusoft Corp, you're well on your way to optimizing performance and gaining a competitive edge. But working with the world's best product development/content management tools and services are just part of the roadmap to success. There is another equally essential element - a comprehensive maintenance support program.

Offsite Development

Software development is a highly technical job. In-house development will require plenty of time, qualified work force as well as expensive software and equipment. Offshore development is a cost-effective alternative to in-house software development. Locating development centers in multiple places around the globe enables companies to leverage a 24/7 -development cycle. Globalization of development also helps to diversify the talent pool and mitigate the risks associated with reliance on a single talent market.

Professional Staffing

We respect your IT investments and the business demands that you face. Our team of experienced professionals can provide strength and support to your IT organization when you need it most - the right expertise, at the right time. Virtusoft represents an almost inexhaustible resource for your intellectual capital needs. We can provide you with the staff to supplement your existing team on a time and material basis.

Training

Our goal is to help you maximize your inside resources and collective knowledge base, as well as help you make the most of your software investments. Our classes range from individual ETL and Business Intelligence software product training to techniques spanning subject areas such as data modeling, data cleansing and data warehousing fundamentals.

We respect your IT investments and the business demands that you face. Virtusoft provides high quality on-site and remote consulting services for growing enterprises worldwide and give them a significant competitive advantage. Our team of experienced professionals can provide strength and support to your IT organization when you need it most - the right expertise, at the right time.
